Eighty employees and staff members were honored when Service Award Pins were presented at a festive Holiday Open House program on Wednesday, December 18.

Following greetings from Hospital President Isidor Slotnik to all at the gathering, the awards for thirty and twenty years continuous service were presented by Dr. James J. Feeney, Director of Clinical Services.

Dr. Harry A. Derow, Visiting Physician and Head of the Renal Clinic, was cited for his contributions in thirty years' association

'64 Greetings From Dr. Lee

As 1964 opens, I want to express my appreciation to each member of the B. I. family for the accomplishments of a year which we can all look back on with pride.

One of the busiest years in Beth Israel's history, 1963 was marked by forward progress in every area of responsibility. These gains have been achieved only through effective cooperation and teamwork among all staff and employees.

My best wishes to each of you, and to your families, for a healthy and happy New Year.

New Plan Frees Nurses For More Patient Service

A new Unit Manager plan, designed to provide more effective patient care, has been initiated on the Sixth Floor and will be extended to other floors during the coming year, according to Dr. Sidney S. Lee, General Director.

The plan aims to enable nurses to give maximum time to their professional nursing duties by coordinating all non-nursing and support services through the Unit Manager. Mr. William Nellis, Adminis-

Gift From B. I. To U.C. Fund Exceeds Quota

B. I. H. employees measurably aided the United Community Fund in moving beyond its $10,000,000 goal this year. B.I. raised $3100, thus exceeding its quota by $100.

Co-chairmen of the drive were Mrs. Marion Leventhal, Assistant in the Dental Department; Louis Stein, Director and Marjorie R. Goldberg, Secretary, Public Relations Division.

Both the laundry cart and the toiletries cart are brought to patient rooms daily at seven a.m. by Miss Jane Elliot (left) and Miss Jane Kelso (right).

New Visitor Pass System Starts January 20 To Reinforce Visitor Rule; Help Insure Quiet

As part of its continuing effort to insure a quiet environment for patients, Beth Israel Hospital will institute a new system of Visitors' Passes. This will reinforce the regulation which permits only two visitors for each patient at any given time.

The system will begin on Monday, January 20 and will be operated by the Information Desk, under the direction of Miss Kalla Freiberg, Department Head. Details of the pass system were worked out by Miss Freiberg, Silas M. Wass, Director of House Services, and Louis Stein, Director of Public Relations. The current system for OBS patients and for patients on the Danger List will not be affected by the new plan.

Control of Passes

Beginning with January 20, each patient will have two passes made up daily for his or her room. There will be a different pass color for each day of the week. Visitors will receive passes from the Information Desk.

Visitors who arrive after the first two passes have been issued will be asked to wait in the Lobby until someone visiting their patient returns to the Lobby and makes a pass available.

Nursing Staff and other personnel who may make rounds to enforce visiting and "quiet" regulations are empowered to ask any visitor without a pass to return to the Lobby and await his proper visiting turn.

nurses as much as possible of administrative functions in order to provide more direct nursing time for our patients."

The decision to institute a pilot program evolved after months of study by a Committee composed of Miss Dora E. Zolotin, Director of Nursing, who served as Chairman; Miss Theodora M. Jay, Director of Personnel; Louis Stein, Director of Public Relations; and Duncan Neuhauser, former Administrative Resident. They reviewed and observed programs in effect in other hospitals.

Meetings Held

After a series of meetings held by Mr. Nellis and the Committee with Nursing Supervisors and Head Nurses from all patient floors it was determined that the responsibilities of the Unit Manager are to:

Coordinate all schedules for maximum floor efficiency, take direct responsibility for controlling visitors and noise on unit, insure efficient meal service on unit, maintain inventory of all equipment and supplies, supervise cleanliness and maintenance of patient area, make sure that all equipment is in top functioning order, receive and orient patient to unit, seek out and follow up all non-nursing complaints, visit each patient's room daily and handle special requests, maintain safety standards, coordinate messenger and volunteer services on unit, and provide efficient communication among Divisions and Departments.

Program's Scope

With the scope of the pilot program defined, Mr. Nellis observed floor procedures for a month, and set up a central office near the elevators on 6 South.

Working closely with Miss Jean Rogert, Floor Supervisor and Head Nurses Eva Silver (6S) and Joan Clark (6N), he instituted a number of moves toward greater floor efficiency.

Typical was the major project of establishing new systems for functional handling and storage of supplies and equipment. This involved eliminating excess items, grouping related items together, setting up par supply levels and establishing standard storage areas for all items in use on each unit. Now, nurses, house staff and others working on the floor will always find needed materials where they should be when they want them.

Many other functional changes are also being considered as the plan continues to develop.

rule, the Public Relations Division is preparing a series of informative materials. These include a letter to be sent by the Admitting Office to all elective booking patients, announcements in the press, appropriate signs for the Lobby and the Information Desk, announcement to the Medical Staff, signs in the elevators, and a memo to the Nursing Staff.

Dr. H. Ravin, Dr. P. Troen Leave B.I. For New Posts

Dr. Herbert A. Ravin and Dr. Philip Troen, members of the full time medical staff, have been chosen for leadership posts at two hospitals, according to Dr. Sidney S. Lee, General Director.

Dr. Troen

Dr. Ravin

Early in October, Dr. Ravin was named Physician-in-Chief at Sinai Hospital in Detroit, Michigan and Associate Professor of Medicine at Wayne University School of Medicine. On February 1, Dr. Troen will become Physician-in-Chief at Montefiore Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and Professor of Medicine at the University of Pittsburgh Medical School.

"We all take pride in the selection of these men," Dr. Lee said, "and know they will be valuable ambassadors from Beth Israel to their new institutions."

More Frequent Messenger Trips

Daily rounds of messengers to nursing stations have been increased, according to Miss Kalla Freiberg, Head of the Information and Mail Department. The move was initiated to reduce the need for floor personnel to hand-carry perishables to the laboratories and other areas away from patient floors.

Now messengers will pick up and deliver all items weighing less than eight ounces approximately every half hour, Miss Freiberg said, with additional trips being made during peak periods of the day from Monday through Friday.

The messengers include Acelia Dearriba, Dorothy LeFevre, Donna Zeelin, Maureen Cronin, Margaret Smallcomb, and Emma Martin.

Jam Each Minute With Joy of Life, Advises Sally G.

"If you know Sally, like I know Sally — oh! oh! oh what a gal. . . ." So goes the old song — and even if it does talk about a somewhat different name, the spirit's the same, for our Sally Goldstein is quite a gal. Exuding "joie de vivre" and ready for a dance almost anytime, Sally nevertheless works quite efficiently and almost unobtrusively in our Accounting Department.

Sally has advanced from inventory clerk to chief clerk, accounts payable, in the short space of three years. "It was easy," says Sally, "because I love working at B.I. I made friends quickly with some very wonderful people and since working with figures has always been a pleasure to me—the department suited me perfectly."

If Sally should possibly remind you of Sophie Tucker — be assured, you have guessed it! She has won acclaim on many occasions for her impersonation of that blues singer.

Best Decision

It was after many years of married life that Sally finally decided to settle down and raise a family. "That decision was the best I have yet made," declares Sally emphatically. "There is nothing in this world that compares with the joy I get from my daughter, Deborah Joye."

Though the Goldsteins don't travel about so freely anymore, Sally's voice is heard in the Home and School Association, at the Temple Adas Israel where she is Chairman of the Gift Shop and, of course, in Stonybrook, Hyde Park, where they live, she is on the Board of Directors of the Civic Association.

Gerald B. O'Connell

Jolly Quips Do Drop From "Oakie's" Lips

Born 68 years ago in Laconia, New Hampshire, Gerald Bergen O'Connell, better known to us as "Oakie," has in his own words been "blessed with a wonderful life."

Perhaps "it all began that day of my baptism when, instead of Francis Joseph, I was named Gerald Bergen for the priest who baptised me," explains Oakie. It seems that the O'Connell family had contributed so much to the local church that the priest wished to name this baby boy for himself and of course the family was happy to accept this honor. Father Gerald Bergen has since become the Bishop of Boys' Town.

On what seemed to be an ordinary day back in the year 1947, Mrs. O'Connell was suddenly approached to give blood for a neighbor who was ill. She gladly acquiesced and soon found herself on the road to the Beth Israel Blood Bank.

"Neither my wife nor myself had ever been to B.I. before that," explains Oakie, "but it seems that Kay liked the Hospital real well. She applied for and was hired as an elevator operator and stayed on for 10 years." It was she who was responsible for Oakie's application to the maintenance department.

Plans to Keep Busy

"I guess I'm going to have to retire soon," reflects Oakie, "but when I do I'm planning to keep real busy. I doubt that I'll do any more hunting, but I'm going to do plenty of fishing — striped bass mostly — and I'm going to stay right here near my seven grandchildren — they're my most interesting hobby."

Volunteer Service Dept. Enriches Hospital's Ties With Community

If hours of service were the only means of measuring the contribution of volunteers to the vitality of Beth Israel, the many men, women and students who have given generously of time could point to impressive achievement. In the past two decades alone, more than one million volunteer hours have been recorded.

A more meaningful measure is the devotion these members of the community bring to their work and the comforts and friendly touches they provide to brighten the atmosphere for all.

The Volunteer Services Department, under the able guidance of Mrs. Edward A. Sugarman, a former volunteer and its full time Director since 1950, involves essential aid to almost every department. Mrs. Sydney J. Allman serves as Assistant to Mrs. Sugarman.

Numerous Volunteer Tasks

Distinguished by the color of their uniforms, volunteers participate in a diversity of programs within the Hospital. The cherry smock identifies women who perform a wide variety of tasks in Patient Service. These range from making surgical dressings and staffing OPD appointment desks to touring floors with books and magazines for loan, and merchandise from the Gift Shop. One of many important duties is providing transportation for patients to Radiology and other services.

The pink and white smock of the "Candy Stripper" singles out high school students in the summer program; gray uniforms trimmed with white identify the Gray Ladies of the Red Cross; and members of the Male Volunteer in Newton contributes supplies for the operating room and maternity floors and woolen toys for the Children's Clinic, and the department also cooperates in providing staff for the Thrift Shop of the Wom-

Corps who serve at night to prepare male patients for Surgery wear bright blue jackets.

Other Patient Service functions include greeting patients in the Admitting Office and taking them to their rooms; delivering mail and flowers from the Information Desk; taking records and portable phonographs to patients able to enjoy them; and assisting administrative offices with typing, mailing and clerical duties.

Department activities are not limited to those taking place under the Hospital's roof. The Golden Age Group of Temple Emanuel en's Auxiliary at 25 Harvard Street in Brookline.

Too, Mrs. Sugarman often attends and speaks at meetings of service organizations to recruit new volunteers and also meets with evening groups involved in the program. She is also active in the Greater Boston Council of Hospital Directors of Volunteers and has given courses at the Boston University School of Public Relations.

Busy Office

Coming from all walks of life, volunteers are screened through individual interviews and then given orientation in the work and policies of the Hospital. Specific training follows for individual jobs.

The center of all these activities is an office on the second floor near the elevators in the Florence L. and Mortimer C. Gryzmish Building. Here a large blackboard charts the day's assignments and the phone rarely stops ringing. You will not always find Mrs. Sugarman and Mrs. Allman at their desks, for theirs is an active stewardship which takes them to many areas of the Hospital — to pinch hit in a moment of immediate need, at other times to act as ambassadors of good will, making sure the Hospital's needs are met and that volunteers are comfortable in their jobs.

An integral part of Beth Israel since its early beginnings, Volunteer Service does much to enrich the Hospital's high standards of patient care and its standing in the community.

While the last notes of "Taps" lingered in the cool, crisp air over Arlington National Cemetery, on Monday, November 25, 1963, nurses, doctors and employees on duty reverently gathered in George Sherman Auditorium for Memorial Services to our late President, John F. Kennedy. Two services were conducted by Rabbi Herbert I. Simekes, Hospital Chaplain, so as many as possible could attend. Earlier in the day, a moment of silence was observed.

Profile of A Trustee

"I've always enjoyed working for humanitarian causes," said Reuben B. Gryzmish, whose active life has given him wide contact with renowned world figures and brought him many unusual tributes.

His grandfather, Charles Hyneman, was the first Jew to settle here in 1812. Born in Boston, Mr. Gryzmish graduated from Harvard College in 1906. He then studied law at night "mainly to keep myself out of mischief," but after joining the Bar, his career took him into business and top corporate posts in numerous industries.

A trustee since 1925, Mr. Gryzmish became an Honorary Trustee in 1956. When construction of B.I. was underway in the twenties, he conceived the idea and was Chairman of a $500 "Victory Banquet" to celebrate the near completion of the new buildings. "It was felt that we could not get good response, for that was a very substantial sum then," he continued. "But before we were through, we were refusing people—although we didn't turn away their money." The gala event in October, 1927, attracted 1,200 to the only hotel ballroom large enough at the Hotel Statler, and helped assure the opening of Beth Israel ten months later.

Communal Leader

Always interested in health and welfare, he was Chairman of the $100 Dinner for the March of Dimes for fifteen years, was Chairman and is now a director of the Suffolk County Chapter of March of Dimes. He also was one of the founders of the Boston Association for Retarded Children, and has been active in all phases of philanthropic and communal activities throughout his life.

Reporters

Elaine Israel, Clinical Services; Mrs. Sally M. Goldstein, Fiscal; Kalla Freiberg, House Services; Mrs. Sonia Rosenberg, Nursing; Eleanor Krasnow, OPD; and Frances Cochios, Yamins.

Clinical Services

Congratulations to Henry Maher (Chemistry Lab) and his wife on the birth of their new daughter; to Dr. and Mrs. John Zinner on the arrival of baby Lisette and to Eleanor Goldman (General Director's Office) and her husband on the arrival of their first child, Howard S.

A warm welcome to Elizabeth Greenman who has joined the group in the Clinical Lab.

Fiscal Services

The entire department had a marvelous time at the "Hawaiian Luau" Holiday Party held on December 12th thanks to the committee who organized such a fine celebration: Dick Hamblin, Bill Sweeney, Sally Goldstein and Harriet Abel and many others. Many of the participants donned Hawaiian costumes for the occasion. The party also served as a welcome for Lee Raskin, Linda Monnar and Joan Brennan.

House Services

Welcome to our new personnel: Barbara Marraco, Katherine Donovan, Betty Brack and Theresa Monagle (Telephone); Judith Haims (Admitting); Mrs. Charlotte Carly (Housekeeping). A great time was had by all at the Christmas Party run by the Laundry Department — gifts were exchanged, good food consumed and much gaiety prevailed. The Information Department ran a Holiday Open House for all the mail and delivery men on the day before Christmas.

Nursing

Welcome back to Susan Sheptner, who returned as staff nurse on 5S, to Judith Meierovitz who is now Head Nurse on 4B, and to Myra Soreff, who is Head Nurse on 7N.

Congratulations to Susan Sissenwine, senior student, who was crowned queen at the Annual Crystal Ball. Elfreda Hester, Nursing School graduate, is now sailing aboard the S. S. Hope as a staff nurse in surgery.

Welcome to Mrs. Ruth Rinkaus, new Office Manager in Nursing.

OPD

A warm welcome to all our new personnel: Mrs. Sidel Weedon (Physical Medicine), Maria Carrisquilla (Health Service), Kathleen Burke (Clinic Clerk), Marilyn Walsh and Edna Gypes (Clinic Nurses), Barbara Mitchell (Social Service). So sorry to see Mrs. Ann Kaitz leave our Admitting Office after 7 years. Congratulations to Mrs. Frances Feldman who became a grandmother for the fifth time.

Yamins

Congratulations to Gert-rude Talberth who became Mrs. Herbert Moshkovitz in October.

The Yamins Medical Research Holiday Party, given by Dr. Howard H. Hiatt, was held on December 19th. A combo, dancing and delicious food made the festivities superb for the entire group.
